

The Asshole Song

August & The Spur Of The Moment Band

Talk thru verse

Well, I was D drivin' down | I-95 other night
G Somebody nearly | cut me right off the road
A I decided it wasn't gonna | do any good to get mad
D So I wrote a song about him | instead, it goes like this |

Were you D born an | asshole?
Or did you G work at it your whole | life?
A Either way, it worked out | fine
'Cause you're an G asshole to Dnight |

Yes, you're an D A S S H | O L E
And don't you G try to blame it on | me
A You deserve all the | credit
You're an G asshole to Dnight |

You were an D asshole | yesterday
You're an G asshole to | night
A And I've got a | feelin'
You'll be an G asshole the rest of your D life |

Instrumental

You were an D asshole | yesterday
You're an G asshole to | night
A And I've got a | feelin'
You'll be an G asshole the rest of your D life |

And I was D talkin' to your | mother

G Just the other | night

A I told her I thought you were an | asshole

She said, G "Yes, I think you're D right" |

And D all your friends are | assholes

'Cause you've G known them your whole | life

A And somebody | told me

You've got an G asshole for a D wife |

Were you D born an | asshole?

Or did you G work at it your whole | life?

A Either way, it worked out | fine

'Cause you're an G assAhole to Dnight D↓ A↓ D↓
